

We condemn Russia's aggression in Ukraine

We, the Editorial Board of the international scientific journal Sustainable Multilingualism, strongly condemn Putin's war against Ukraine - an independent and peaceful European country, against the World peace and his own people.

We express our solidarity with the Ukrainian people and with our cooperation partners, researchers and scientists, teachers and students and fully support their actions to defend the country's independence and territorial integrity.

We condemn the statement issued by the Russian rectors' conference on 4 March 2022 and declare that we refuse to accept manuscripts of researchers who justify the war or sign their articles with the name of a university that publicly defends this war.

We are with you, Ukraine!

Prof. dr. Nemira Mačianskienė, Vytautas Magnus University, Lithuania
Assoc. prof. dr. Vilma Bijekienė, Vytautas Magnus University, Lithuania
Assoc. prof. dr. Servet Çelik, Tarbzon University, Turkey
Dr. Anne-Marie Barrault-Méthy, Université de Bordeaux, France
Dr. Asier Blas Mendoza, University of the Basque Country, Spain
Dr. Loic Boizou, Vytautas Magnus University, Lithuania
Prof. dr. Nijolė Burksaitienė, Mykolas Romeris University, Lithuania
Prof. dr. Manuel Célio Conceição, University of Algarve, Portugal
Prof. James Patrick Cummins, University of Toronto, Canada
Prof. dr. Ineta Dabašinskienė, Vytautas Magnus University, Lithuania
Prof. dr. Michael Kelly, University of Southampton, United Kingdom
Dr. Ulrike Kurth, Westfalen-Kolleg Paderborn, Germany
Dr. Michael Lönz, Ruhr-Kolleg Essen, Germany
Assoc. prof. dr. Martha Nyikos, Indiana University-Bloomington, United States
Prof. emeritus Robert Phillipson, Copenhagen Business School, Denmark
Prof. dr. Javier Martos Ramos, University of Sevilla, Spain
Prof. emeritus Tove Skutnabb-Kangas, Roskilde University, Denmark
Prof. dr. Alida Samusevica, Liepaja University, Latvia
Prof. dr. Jolita Šliogerienė, Vilnius Gediminas Technical University, Lithuania
Prof. dr. hab. Elżbieta Magdalena Wąsik, Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, Poland
Prof. dr. dr. Ghil'ad Zuckermann, The University of Adelaide, Australia

2022-03-15